Nebraskan Had Not Been Informed Of Change In His Schedule, And Expected To Greet First Wisconsin Audience In Janesville.

MILWAUKEE DEMOCRATS DISMAYED

Crowd Was Waiting There To Hear Him--Gazette Office Besieged With Inquiries--St. Paul Arranged Special Which Left Here At 11:30.

William Jennings Bryan, Democracy's greatest leader, came to Janesville this morning, but instead of making an address spent over an hour at the cement post factory, where he purchased a carload of fence pillars last spring. The Nebraskan was not expected. Originally he was scheduled to speak in the Bower City, Watertown, and Madison company of these three men. Mr. Bryan, after the explanations had been made, was driven to the cement post factory, where considerable time was spent in social and political converse and the inspection of the plant.

W. J. BRYAN.

St. Paul Arranged Special. In the meantime the local St. Paul railroad officials "got busy." It had been taken for granted that Mr. Bryan would do the next best thing and take the 12:45 train for Milwaukee, where a throng was in waiting to hear him speak this morning. Indeed, had he remained on the 10:35 train, which brought him to the city, he might have made connections for the Cream City at Milton Junction. But this latter fact is of no significance, in view of the circumstances. While the Nebraskan was at the cement post factory Agent W. H. Johnson found that he could get the way clear for a special and Frank Blodgett made a swift trip to the factory in his automobile to acquaint Mr. Bryan with this welcome news. The hack was hurried to the depot and at 11:30 Mr. Bryan stepped aboard a train made up of a passenger coach, baggage car, and locomotive which had instructions to run on fast time. Barring some untoward incident this train was to arrive in Milwaukee about one o'clock. It was thought that connections could be made with Watertown so that he could speak there at four this afternoon and at Madison this evening. At 11:30 tonight he will leave Madison for Watertown, S. D.

Mistake Hurt Attendance. Milwaukee, Wis., Oct. 17. (2:45 p.m.)—Special—Before Bryan arrived Ayward, Lueck, and others made long speeches which evoked small applause except when Bryan's name was mentioned. Then a recess was called upon its being explained that the ladies present needed a rest. Meanwhile a rumor got around that Bryan would not arrive till three and when he got here the audience, though enthusiastic, was slender.

Endorses La Follette. Milwaukee, Wis., Oct. 17. 3 p.m.—Bryan at the opening of the speech said he was glad to endorse La Follette; he was also glad to oppose those who beat La Follette at the recent primary.

NO FIGHT FOR THE ILLINOIS CENTRAL

Harriman Turned All of His Proxies Over to Stuyvesant Fish at Meeting Today.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] Chicago, Oct. 17.—As soon as the meeting of the stockholders of the Illinois Central railroad was called here today, it became evident there would be no fight for control of the road as William Nelson Cromwell, acting for Harriman, turned over to Stuyvesant Fish, president of the road, all proxies for stock held by Harriman and Fish, and they were empowered to vote all the Harriman stock in the meeting.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.] Chicago, Ill., Oct. 17.—The Illinois Central evidently takes the view that the new federal law does not prohibit the giving of free transportation to stockholders for scores of holders of the annual meeting today from points as far south as New Orleans and from many parts of the East and West. The business of the meeting was of a routine character, the stockholders listening to the annual reports and being called upon to approve the acts of the directors. The reports, previously made public, showed the gross earnings of the company for the year ended June 30 to be $51,626,495, and the net earnings and income from investments and miscellaneous sources to be $18,455,924, an increase for the year of $770,257.

W. C. T. U. THOUGH YOUNG SHOWS RAPID GROWTH

Seventh Triennial Convention In Boston--John D. Long Identified With Meeting As Toastmaster.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.] Boston, Mass., Oct. 17.—Since the first appearance of women in the field of politics and social reform there has never been such a demonstration as that which began in Boston today. The occasion is the seventh triennial convention of the World's Woman's Christian Temperance Union, which was ushered in today with an all-day service of prayer in the vestry of Park Street church. This evening at Tremont Temple a banquet is to be tendered the distinguished guests from afar, with Hon. John D. Long, former secretary of the navy, as toastmaster. Tremont Temple will be the scene of three business sessions daily, during the remainder of the week. In the afternoon Lady Henry Somerset, president of the world's organization, the sessions will be presided over by Mrs. L. M. N. Stevens of Maine, president of the National W. C. T. U.

The magnitude of the organizations which are participating in this convention is hard to realize, and compared with their modest beginnings their growth is little short of miraculous. Thirty years ago or more such a thing as a woman's temperance union was unknown. Throughout the United States and in England there were a number of temperance societies, but they were distinct, from each other and worked independently. Even in those days there were some who dreamed of having all the societies combined under one head, to found one grand nonsectarian union which would take in every prohibition society in the world. Miss Frances E. Willard was the leading spirit in this new movement, and her associates numbered women scarcely less qualified than herself for their chosen work. Among them were Mrs. Louise Rounds of Chicago, Mrs. Mary Clement Leavitt of Boston, Mrs. Mary A. B. Woodbridge of Cleveland, Mrs. J. Ellen Foster of Washington, Mrs. Lillian M. N. Stevens of Maine, and Miss Julia Coleman of New York.

In 1874 their dream came true and the cherished hope of a woman's temperance union was a reality. Its success was assured from the start. Local unions sprang up all over America and these were federated into state and provincial organizations.

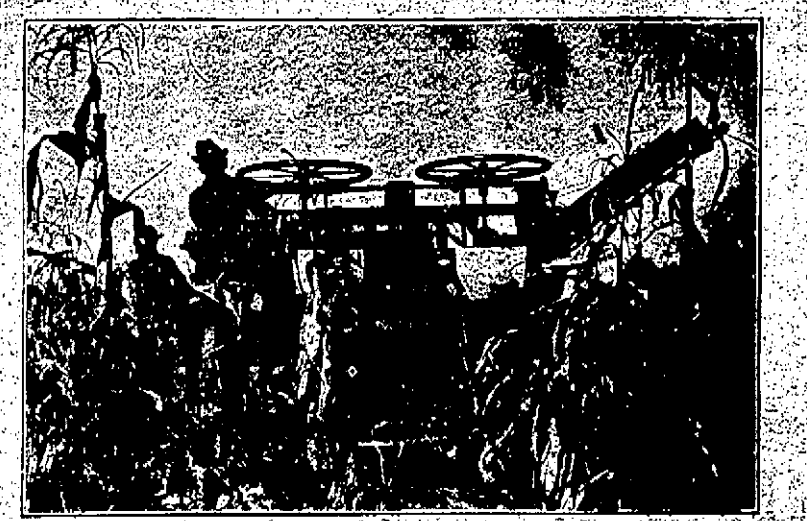

After Canada and the United States England was the next to fall into line, but though she adopted the American system, she chose to be known by the name of the "British Woman's Temperance Association," there being some objections to the word "union." But the English proved themselves none the less ardent workers, and today there are branches in every county in England, Scotland and Wales.

The comprehensive program arranged for the present convention tells a story of good work done and doing. The fact that sixty countries of the world are represented among the delegates shows how new fields have been penetrated from year to year. Not only are the United States and Canada fully represented, but some of the most remote countries of the world have sent delegates. Mrs. Kaji Yajima of Tokyo, the president of the Japanese union, represents that country. From Africa has sent her president, Mrs. Mary F. Fennell of Natal. From Germany has come Baroness Von Hansen, a recognized force in educational circles, as well as in the social life of her home city, Dresden. Austria is represented by Fraulein Julie Kassowitz. Mrs. Alli Trigg Helenus of Helsingfors is the delegate of the Finland W. C. T. U. and from the Antipodes comes Miss Ada Henry representing New South Wales. Other delegates from far-off lands are Mrs. Harrison Lee of Melbourne, Miss Roberg of Sweden, Miss Helen Dunhill of India, and the Misses Calceopoli of Greece.

The United Kingdom has sent a most distinguished delegation headed by the Earl of Carlisle and his daughter, Lady Dorothy Howard, representing the Countess of Carlisle, who is president of the British W. C. T. U. In addition there are delegates representing the local unions of Glasgow, Leeds, Birmingham, Nottingham, London, Paisley, and numerous other leading cities of England, Scotland, and Wales.

The register at convention headquarters shows delegates here also from: Burmah, Chile, Cuba, Bulgaria, Brazil, Uruguay, Syria, and the Ba-

Corn-Husker Which The World Is Waiting For Invented By Local Man

For over a quarter of a century the big harvesting machine manufactures have been striving to perfect a corn-husker that might do clean work as well as save labor in the field. Makeshifts have been the only fruit of their efforts and each fall the same old call for human hands comes from the great western corn belt.

In the city of Aurora, Ill., eight years ago A. M. Hollenbeck, an acknowledged mechanical genius and a young expert by the name of Vernon McDoyle, engaged in an effort to find a practicable solution of the problem. Walworth, Wis., was later the scene of their labors and for four years past they have been experimenting in Janesville, altering this and that component part, endeavoring to overcome every shortcoming and defect and thus forestall all objections which the skeptical grower might be expected to raise. They have built and rejected six machines. The seventh has just been completed and patents secured on the more important devices. Confident that the machine meets every requirement the inventors have taken it to the John Hugin farm in the town of La Prairie, Rock county, for a demonstration. Parties who have watched it in operation are quite as enthusiastic as the builders.

The automatic standing-corn husker is operated by an 18-horsepower gasoline engine exactly similar to that used in a certain make of automobile. The snapping rolls which take the ears from the stalks are upright, and while it is conceded that sufficient speed and traction cannot be provided by horses the use of gasoline motive power will be found much more economical and convenient in every respect.

It is estimated that the huskers can be sold on the market for from $1,200 to $1,500.

Mr. Hollenbeck is in Rockford today, but will return this evening. Business men who are interested are invited to make a trip to the Hugin farm tomorrow and witness the machine in operation.

The work is attributed to incendiaries seeking revenge for the dynamiting of the negro college last Friday. The entire business section of the town is affected. Two thousand is said to be the population and the loss a hundred and fifty thousand dollars. Everything is quiet now, although some feeling is still being shown by the negroes.

Celestian Antoine, 80 years of age, shot and killed his wife at Chatfield, Minn., because of domestic trouble.

ELEVENTH YEAR OPENED

With A Banquet At Y. M. C. A. Auditorium Last Evening—Government Ownership Discussed.

TWILIGHT CLUB—ELEVENTH SEASON.

Rev. R. C. Denison appointed a committee of one to telegraph greetings to the founder D. D. Mayne, St. Anthony Park, Minnesota.

Subject of the November meeting—The Relation of the Liquor Traffic to Economic and Social Conditions. Leader—Rev. Fr. W. A. Goebel.

Award of annual prizes for greatest improvement in appearance of school premises.

Admission—Crandall of Adams school; $5 to Janitor; W. L. Denning of Webster school. Honorable mention for Janitor: A. Muenchow of Garfield school. Committee of award—M. P. Richardson, Dr. J. R. Whiffen, and Bernard M. Palmer.

Committee consisting of the following business men appointed on recommendation of Dr. S. B. Buckmaster and T. S. Nolan to ascertain feasibility and devise ways and means of securing substantial financial assistance for the Sisters of Mercy in their project of establishing and managing a hospital in Janesville: T. O. Howe, George S. Parker, H. F. Bliss, F. S. Baines, and S. M. Smith.

Subject of last evening's discussion—Government Ownership of Railroads. Leader—Levi B. Carle. Attendance—100. Visitors—Manager J. A. Vail of the Fairbanks-Morse Co., and Prof. A. T. Bruegel of Beloit.

The Twilight Club returned to its consideration of material and mental repeats last evening with enthusiasm undiminished by over a decade of history. Rev. R. C. Denison reporting for the program committee, stated that subjects had been suggested for all of the meetings of the year save the April Ladies' Night. There had always been considerable objection to the subjects chosen for that particular meeting; the ladies complaining that the men were disposed to talk sensibly and rationally at all of their other meetings and then tried to be funny when they were asked to. The committee would be glad to receive suggestions.

54,600 Meals
Did Him No Good

How One Man Wasted 50 Years of His Life. Thousands Like Him.

"What's the use of 'eatin', anyhow," said the scrawny dyspeptic to his round, prosperous-looking friend. "Here I've been eatin' three times a day, and sometimes twice a day, for 50 years, and look at me. I'm rawboned and skinny, still at the bottom of the ladder 'soun on the world, and I can't get nothin' out of it. I know it, and I can't get nothin' out of it. I had it to do over again, and I would take care of my stomach, for I don't believe I ever really relished a meal in my life, not even mother's Christmas dinners, and I firmly believe that my way of eatin' or whatever it was, brought along with it darkness and impossibility of success."

"You're right," nodded his companion. "Of course, that isn't always the case. But in this age, we must not only 'Trust in the Lord and keep our powder dry,' but we must swallow sunshine with our food. Cheerfulness, especially while eating, which is the most essential act of man, is as necessary to him as sunshine is to the flowers. Nothing normal can be produced in darkness."

"But this is what you haven't been doing, Mr. Dyspeptic. Your brain and your stomach, remember, are twins, and you have to treat them accordingly. Why not start now and repair the damage you've done? It is never too late, you know."

"Absolutely, yes. Science has made it possible to get the sunshine, the health and the strength that your stomach needs, all put up together in little tablets. They call them Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets; the most effective tablets in the world, for this very thing. One ingredient in these tablets digests 3,000 grains of food without the help of the stomach. Two tablets after each meal can do more work, quicker work, and better work, in digesting a heavy meal than the stomach can do. The stomach need not work at all. Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets do all the work, and gives your jaded stomach a rest, the rest it needs. Meanwhile you cure yourself of brash, irritation, burning sensation, heartburn, sour stomach, acidity, fermentation, bloating and the worst cases of dyspepsia and indigestion. You get rid of these for all time. And then, besides, you can eat all you want and whenever you want, and you will also relish mother's Christmas dinners if you will take Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets after eating. That's the sunshine I was talking about. Then your face will reflect the internal change going on, you'll be more energetic, your mind will be clearer, you will have more confidence in yourself, you'll be happier, and you'll be yourself again. Your heart will change and you'll feel rosy. You'll enjoy your meals—and live. Let's walk down to the drug store and let me introduce you to one little package of these Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets. You can get them at any drug store in the world, for only 50c a package. It is worth it, Mr. Dyspeptic."

was appointed last year to confer with a similar committee from the Social Union club regarding the steps to be taken to secure an adequate hospital for the city. That body had considered the subject and had had considerable deliberations. Dr. S. B. Buckmaster stated that at his office, resolutions had been passed calling for the improvement of hospital facilities, favoring the purchase of the Palmer hospital property, the administration of the same by the Catholic Sisters, and the raising of a fund by citizens to bring about this desired end. Nearly all of the medical men in the city had signed these resolutions. By such administration the pay, roll (would) be eliminated, more reasonable rates could be offered, and more people would be enabled to take advantage of the accommodations there. That Mother Superior had been asked whether she would be expected of the citizens. She had intimated that if a sufficient sum to buy the building could not be raised, she would be expected to pay. The Palmer hospital would be in every way satisfactory and a nucleus for the new hospital could be purchased at a figure much below its original cost. A committee of business men was suggested by T. S. Nolan and named by the club to ascertain what could be done and take steps towards raising the fund.

Treasurer C. S. Cleland reported that during the past year 159 had paid $4 each, the total names on the list having originally been 244 and nine having dropped out. The total receipts for the year had been $63.60. Balance on hand $123.90.

Discussion opened. Leader Carle, in opening the discussion of government ownership of railroads, ways topic said that the club during the eleven years of its existence had discussed many subjects and seldom one of greater scope than the subject of the Interstate Commerce Commission's report. The Baltimore American had given the aggregate railway mileage in the United States at 306,796, estimated to be one-half of the track mileage in the entire world, the total capitalization of the railways of the United States at $5,574,557,000, the annual salaries and wages at $174,221,400. The disbursements during the past year were greater than the aggregate disbursements of any two national governments. The dividends had been $23,064,482, or 3.63 per cent on the capitalization. It occurred to the speaker that in view of the fact that the government ownership was a very large problem.

The speakers discussed The Conditions in American Railroads Which Make the Question. The essence of the railway question, he said, was in the government, the corporations being created by the government and governmental functions, such as the right of eminent domain, being intrusted to them. Proceeding on this basis he showed that the great systems were practically in the hands of six men who had it in their power to make of break cities and men. The argument was a very thorough and convincing one.

Clarence Beers, speaking on "Government Ownership in Foreign Lands," told of the success with which cities of Europe operate street railways, and lighting systems, giving copious statistics to show that better service, increased wages, shorter hours, fairer rates and larger profits to the municipalities resulted.

William Dougherty, speaking in an ironical vein, entered into a very entertaining discussion of "The Possible Advantages of Government Ownership." He thought it would be gratifying to have the railway magnates take the stump to justify themselves before the stockholders, the citizens of the United States, and explain how they didn't do it at all in ascertaining the value of the intangible property prior to the taking over of the same. He would expect a commission, sitting 10 years at $10,000 salaries, to finally decide that it was worth three times the tangible value plus the cost of the latter, whereas a large majority of the prospective stockholders would come to doubt the wisdom of the movement, and decide that the time was not ripe.

"Difficulties of Administration" was the subject dealt with by A. N. Gleason, a very illuminating talk on the value of private incentive in the railroad business, as it is conducted at present, and the necessarily absorbing interest of the railroads in the service of the people which they served. The postoffice department, he declared, would not have a representative and compelling to carry certain mail at a big loss—newsletters at $1 a hundred pounds when the express rate was $3 and first class freight, $4—was hardly a convincing example of the advantages of public ownership.

Hon. Philby Joyce discussed the question—Is Government Ownership Consistent With American Ideas? He gave a very thoughtful and eloquent exposition of "The American Idea," showing that from the beginning the effort had been to safeguard as large a measure of individual liberty as might be consistent with public welfare. Private initiative, he argued, had been responsible for all of the progress and achievements which had placed this country at the head of the nations. If the government should own railroads, electric light plants, and coal mines it followed that it should own everything—our homes, our farms, and churches. This is a complete surrender of all individual rights and man becomes a mere cog in an impredicable system.

The speaker then took the lines from the Wisconsin socialist platform which call for the taking over of telegraph and steamship lines, and a loan of money without interest to all cities by the government, the same to be used in taking over public utilities. The adoption of such plans would necessitate a change of our constitution, an altering of our entire social system and all our hopes, plans, and ambitions. He prophesied that present political alignments were to change and that at some time in the near future the strong, intelligent men of the nation would be in solid battlefront against the alien, imported socialist propaganda.

William Millington's Death Due to Heart Trouble—Had Crossed At Lantic Fifteen Times.

William Millington, whose funeral was held here yesterday with burial in Emerald Grove, came to his death in a most peculiar circumstance in under very peculiar circumstances in Montreal, Canada. He was en route home from England and upon leaving the vessel was knocked senseless and was robbed. His unconscious form was found by officers and removed to a hospital. His injuries were not considered serious and it was thought he would be able to proceed on his journey within a few days, but on Friday, October 12, he was stricken with heart trouble and death ensued. He was brought directly to Janesville. Mr. Millington was one of the earliest and best known residents of Rock county. He was born in Shropshire, England, in the year 1830. He grew to young manhood in that place. At the age of 24 years he was married to Miss Elizabeth Barber of Staffordshire, Eng. On May 4, 1856, accompanied by his wife and infant daughter he started for America. The only means of crossing the Atlantic at that time was by sailing vessels and it took them seven weeks, and three days to make the voyage. They went directly to Emerald Grove, Rock county, Wisconsin, reaching there June 30, and settled on a farm one mile west of that place. Here they remained until 1887, when, owing to failing health, he sold his farm and moved to Janesville, where he has resided for the last 19 1/2 years, except at short intervals when he had visited his boyhood home in England. He had crossed the Atlantic ocean fifteen times. Mr. Millington was a man of fine appearance and good character. He was honest and industrious and just in all his dealings. Mr. Millington leaves a number of sons, three daughters and a number of grandchildren, also four sisters and three brothers in England and a large circle of friends to mourn his passing.

MISS SKAVLEM WILL BE HEAD LIBRARIAN

Promotion from Position of Assistant Will Take Place on First of November.

On the first of November Miss Gertrude Skavlem, who has been assistant at the Janesville public library for four years past, will become head librarian and Mrs. Louise Best, who has held this latter position for years, will assume the lighter duties and the responsibilities of first assistant. The library board, at its last meeting, made these appointments in order to lighten the work for Mrs. Best, and at the same time to take advantage of the efficient service which Miss Skavlem, in her careful preparation, has and devotion to the profession, has shown herself capable of performing. The board as it is now constituted consists of the following members: William Blanton, president, Mrs. P. Lovejoy, Wilson Lane, Horace McElroy, H. L. McNamara, H. L. Skavlem, David Conser, Prof. H. C. Buell and Michael Hayes.

TWO MEN ROB COLORADO TRAIN

Cover Express Messenger with Revolvers, But Fail to Rob Safe.

Leadville, Col., Oct. 17.—Two armed men boarded the engine of the Denver & Rio Grande passenger train No. 5 at Malta, Tuesday night and at the point of revolvers, compelled the engineer and fireman to uncouple the express and baggage cars. They then forced the engineer to pull the cars several miles up the road.

When the train stopped the bandits went to the express car and covering the messenger with their weapons, attempted to blow open the safe. They only succeeded in getting about $60.

What Rockford Thought of Arden
In the so-called wild-west there are no vexatious problems, there are no tainted women seeking entrance to the upper world, no strained philosophy or peevish sentences supposed to be common with the smart set. There is just an everydayness, a plainness, in a word, the simple life. This in a nutshell is the motive underlying "Told in the Hills."

It is a pretty and turgid picture of frontier life with its rugged scenes, steel-grey sky, mellow atmosphere and military trappings. The dialogue is not delicate or epigrammatic, but bluff and outspoken. There are the usual adjectives supposed to be in common use "out west" and similar ed by the author to govern the situation. There is an air of probability about the story though Jack is so often in trouble, and gets the worse of it, sometimes that he might well be called Hard Luck Jack. Albert he mounts a world of difficulties, saves scores of people, brings peace between the Indians and whites, becomes reconciled to his brother and refuses to die in order that he may wed the girl he loves, and who, womanlike, made sacrifices for him. The play was well presented though the lack of proper lighting marred the beautiful scene in the third act, denoting the advent of dawn in death valley. The company is a strong one. Edwin Arden, portraying the part of Genesee Jack admirably. He has a dignified, manly bearing and a tendency to modify rather than overdo. The plot fits him perfectly, and his voice, resonant in quality, and a strong, scholarly place, makes him ideal in romantic parts. Julia Denn as the heroine was sympathetic. Miss Galloway was a captivating ingenue. Mr. Spencer was excellent as the brother, his voice and acting suggesting rich dramatic talent, and Mr. Tilden as the Greater Love.

William Winter, of the New York Tribune, dean of the dramatic critics of America, has strong prejudices against some modern dramatic offerings, which he is not in the least diffident about mentioning. Here are some of his opinions as expressed recently in the Tribune.

..Forty Years Ago..

Janesville Daily Gazette, Wednesday, October 17, 1866.—A Move in the Right Direction.—The teachers of Milton have held a meeting and resolved to demand an increase of pay for their services. "This, in our estimation, is a move in the right direction. No class of people work harder than efficient and competent teachers who do their duty to the scholars under their charge, and yet no class, as a general rule, are more poorly paid. Their pay should be advanced, and will be if they demand it generally."

Down With the Dust.—A gentleman who saw the subscription paper yesterday for the Broad and Enter organ to be established in this city as soon as the necessary funds are subscribed, informs us that said paper contained two names at Floyd Smith, U. S. Assessor, was down for $1,000 and Hon. John J. R. Deane, the Johnsonian Democratic candidate for Congress in this district, had opposite his name the sum of $300. Whether this was to be a sinking fund, or to pay for so much stock in the concern, we are not advised.

The Southern loyalists met with a grand reception at Point du Lac on Tuesday. The veteran eagle, "Old Abe," was present, and added to the general enthusiasm. A large number was present and Judge Patterson made a powerful speech. Others also addressed the meeting.

FREIGHT CHARGES ARE ODD

SHIPPER PAYS ON FULL WEIGHT OF CARLOAD.

Alleges Railroad Demanded Tariff on 24,000 Pounds and Exacted Toll for Delay.

Washington, Oct. 17.—A complaint involving an insignificant sum of money and some important principles was filed with the interstate commerce commission Tuesday by James B. Mape, against the Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific railway.

The complainant claims that, on shipments of baled straw from Center Point, Ia., to Chicago, the defendant line charged him 15 cents per hundred pounds on a weight of 24,000 pounds to a car, although the precise weight was only 19,230 pounds. He alleges that the charge was unreasonable.

The defendant also exacted a charge of one dollar a car for alleged delay in unloading at Chicago—a delay over which complainant had no control. He says that there should be reciprocity in demurrage charges, and that the defendant and other railroads should pay shippers such charges for delays in shipments, because they are careless in furnishing cars after they are ordered.

The complainant demands that the commission give him reparation and that an order be issued requiring railroads to furnish cars within a reasonable time.

CHARGES BY CATTLE-RAISERS

Say They Suffer from Withdrawal of Through Rates by Roads.

Washington, Oct. 17.—A hardship it is claimed, in a complaint filed Tuesday by the Texas Cattle Raisers' association, with the interstate commerce commission against the Galveston, Harrisburg & San Antonio Railway company, the International & Great Northern Railway company, and the Texas & New Orleans Railway company, is worked on cattle shippers from Texas points to New Orleans by reason of the cancellation by the defendants of through rates.

The cancellation has resulted in an advance of from $15 to $35 a car and it is alleged that shippers of live stock under the new rates will suffer serious damage.

The commission is asked to establish just and reasonable through rates from Texas points to New Orleans.

President's Interviewer Insane

SELLING PRICES ABROAD.

The statement is frequently made that American manufactured goods are sold cheaper abroad than at home. Farm machinery, the sewing machine, steel rails, and a few other staples are cited, and the advocates of free trade find an argument in these conditions against protection. The American Economist, in commenting, explains the situation and shows the absurdity of the claim. It says:

"Discussing this 'burning' (so-called) question is like threshing out old straw—the only result is wind. It has been discussed in almost every election campaign for the past half century or more. Clay answered it, Blaine answered it, McKinley answered it, Senator Gallinger answered it, and only the other day Secretary Shaw quoted the answering figures of the 1900 campaign, namely, that the records of the industrial commission of the United States shown by the testimony of manufacturers in various lines, that in some cases American factory products were occasionally sold abroad, 'dumped' they called it, at lower prices than at home. It was figured out then, and not refuted then nor since, that the total annual value of the goods so sold, or dumped, was only $4,000,000, or only one-third of one per cent of our annual factory product of $13,000,000,000, as shown by the twelfth census of the United States, popularly known as the census of 1900. That is all the wool there is behind the present cry.

"Still further: It must not be forgotten that for making the goods sold abroad at lower prices in forced foreign markets, the wage-earner gets just as much for his labor as he does for making the same articles for sale even in his own town. It matters not to him whether the cultivator is sold for $30 in Kansas or for $22 for export to South America; he gets just as much wages for the one as for the other, and he has double work, that is, he makes two cultivators instead of one, and earns twice as much wages. If any one suffers by the operation it is the 'thieving trust,' so-called, not the wage-earner."

That's all there is to it. A fragment of one per cent of the goods made in this country are sent abroad at a cut price to meet the competition of starving wages paid in Europe. It is the small surplus stock sold at a loss and amounts to nothing in volume or as an argument against the protective tariff. When a nation manufactures $13,000,000,000 worth of goods and consumes all but four million dollars' worth at home it speaks volumes for prosperity and for the wise administration of the party in power.

While manufacturing industries are forging to the front it is interesting to note that farms and farm products are keeping pace with the procession. The bureau of statistics states that the increase in the value of farm lands from 1900 to 1905 was $6,131,000,000. This increase is larger in states where manufacturing industries thrive for the nearer the factory to the farm the better the home market.

Farm products have also advanced. Some details of these higher prices are found interesting. In 1896 (free-trade tariff period) corn averaged 21.5 cents a bushel; five years later, 1901 (protection period), the average was 60.5 cents a bushel. Oats were worth 18.7 in 1896, and 39.9 in 1901. Wheat was 50.9 cents a bushel in 1895, and 92.4 cents a bushel in 1904. Eggs brought 16.9 cents a dozen in 1896, and 31.8 cents a dozen in 1905.

Farmers have reason to stand with the republican party, the party of protection and prosperity. At the rate of a dollar a reason, they have about 30,000,000,000 reasons for refusing to stand with the free-trade party, the party of adversity and ruin.

That they do things on the coast is evidenced by the fact that the citizens of Seattle contributed $600,000 in a single day for the Alaska Yukon exposition to be held in Seattle in the summer of 1909. "Everybody helps" was the slogan and October 23 was set apart as a holiday. Mr. Parry, chairman of the ways and means committee, directed the movement and started out to raise half a million dollars. There's nothing slow about the state of Washington.

The republican congress passed a law prohibiting corporations from contributing to campaign expenses, and the people applauded. Then the dollar campaign fund was started and everybody invited to contribute. What is the result? The party is 80 per cent short of last year's donations, and no money in sight for legitimate expenses. There's a good deal of foot sentiment about modern reform.

The hospital movement was given new inspiration at the Twilight club meeting last evening, and if the citizens appreciate its importance, the enterprise will be carried through. The city needs hospital facilities and especially for emergency cases. The Palmer hospital may be made the nucleus for a commodious sanitarium and in the hands of the Sisters it would be well and successfully managed.

The chances are that Senator La Follette will not be called upon to speak in the state campaign. It is understood that his profile to Governor Davidson is of a personal nature and does not include the ticket. That sort of support would be a damage, and it is not likely that Chairman Connor will add the senator's name to the list of speakers.

The Rockford, Beloit and Janesville interurban line carries to Beloit 150 workmen from outside towns every morning. Of this number Janesville contributes 25; Rockford, 25; and Rockton, 100. More Beloit workmen will be obliged to find homes outside the Line City. The factories are adding to their forces with no place to house the new help.

The Rubber Mills Co. located at La Crosse employs 300 people and has work for 200 more which can not be secured because La Crosse is not a manufacturing city. The company offers to come to Janesville for $50,000 and a site. Some towns would consider a proposition of that kind, but the Bower City is too busy just now with the interurban project.

The Hearst campaign is meeting with a cold reception in the rural districts of New York, but organized labor is flocking to his standard in all the centers of population. His defeat means plenty of hard work on the part of republicans.

The administration of the Milwaukee Journal is divided between Bryan and La Follette. The paper believes that Bryan can do the democratic party good service by advocating La Folletteism, and thus win many republicans to a congenial fold. The scheme should be encouraged.

Mr. Bryan's Madison Square Garden speech on government ownership is making republican votes all over the country and insures the election of a number of republican congressmen in doubtful districts.

PRESS COMMENT.

Revered But Not Appreciated. Chicago Inter-Ocean: In an effort to be considered in Chicago's class as a musical center, New York has unveiled a shaft to Verdi. But Verdi is not much whistled in New York these days.

Lauds Outside Air. Menasha Record: Those who are sleeping out of doors at this time fully realize what pure ozone is. The ozone of rooms has to be reprocessed every morning, not so with all out doors.

Saying Things at the Furnace. Madison Journal: This would be a bad season for the millennium. Think of the many "patres familia" who are working over, recalcitrant, furnace and saying things that endanger their souls' salvation!

Stinging Retort to Clergy. Fond du Lac Commonwealth: The members of the clergy who are wont to decry the stage, will be able to get a new start from the statement of Kyrie Bellow to the effect that for every actor in prison, there are ten clergymen.

Radical, to Say the Least. Milwaukee News: In withdrawing the remaining coal lands in the public domain from entry, President Roosevelt has indicated that he has reached the socialistic and revolutionary conclusion that the public lands belong to the people.

Has Chance for Retribution. Shawana Advocate: It is now a good time for The Milwaukee Sentinel to print at the head of its column that it's the only morning republican paper in Milwaukee, the same as The Free Press did last year. There is nothing like having revenge.

To Skip After the Deluge. La Crosse Chronicle: Nothing could have happened more logically following the announcement that the Hon. Zeno M. Host had accepted the management of Mr. McGovern's campaign, than the further report that he was about to leave the state.

Pranks Keep the World Young. Beloit Free Press: Student "horseplay" the last few days has knocked shoulders out of joint in Beloit; dumped scores into the chill waters of Lake Mendota, and landed Teddy Roosevelt, Jr., and chums in a Boston police court. It was all "just for fun."

Open Season for Scalp-taking. Oshkosh Northwestern: The Shawano Journal suggests that November 6 will be the open season for democratic aspirants for public office, and that republicans can take as many scalps as they please on that day, "without the necessity of talking out a license, either." Hush! Don't put the game to flight.

Phonographic Sermonizing. Madison Democrat: It is reported that the Salvation Army of Cleveland has phonographic records of sermons, songs and prayer, and that these are distributed to the people from the street corners. Cleveland is a booming city, but enterprise has reached a limit when it becomes necessary to dispense salvation by machine.

Besire Yourself, Republicans! Fond du Lac Commonwealth: While everything points to a republican victory in Wisconsin, it is no time to let apathy creep in and do its deadly work. The democrats are putting on the most vigorous fight of which they are capable, and republicans in every section of the state should besire themselves to the end that the pitfalls for Governor Davidson, and of the rest of the ticket, may sustain the Badger reputation for republican victories.

Rash, Rash, Words. Broadhead Register: We plead guilty that we have not kept every good track of the gentlemen who are the nominees on the socialistic ticket for the coming election. A. A. Ten Eyck is the nominee of that party for assemblyman and he says that he is the best qualified to represent the working classes of any of the nominees. There's only one reason why Algie would not make an ordinary member of the legislature—he's too honest, and they don't really like him. An honest man looks like a knave in the assembly, barring the present incumbent from this district.

Journal Too Easily Shocked. Oshkosh Northwestern: The Madison Journal is shocked at the spectacle of two wives going together to visit their common husband in jail in that city. "Even in Utah or Turkey," says the Journal, "one would scarcely expect to see it; and certainly not in conservative Madison." Undoubtedly, however, there are a good many other things that go on in "conservative" Madison that might shock the Journal even more than the spectacle of two deluded women, who at least knew enough not to quarrel over a wretch of a man who wasn't worth it, anyhow.

Cigarette as Life-Preserver. United States Tobacco Journal: Vilified as the cigarette is as a "coffin nail" the news that it saved the neck of a man from the gallows, miserable wretch though he was, must place it in the ranks of a life-preserver. According to a dispatch from Alexandria, La., a man who was addicted to the use of cigarettes was tried there before a jury on a charge of an assault on a sixteen-year-old girl. There was a death penalty on such a crime, but one of the jurors held up the jury for sixty hours in refusing to vote for the death penalty on the ground that as the government allowed the sale of cigarettes, it was partly responsible for the crime and he would not yield to the protestations of the other jurors to inflict the death penalty because the criminal was a cigarette fiend. The jury finally agreed on a life sentence.

Rev. Sam Jones. Evening Wisconsin: The Rev. Sam P. Jones did nothing conventionally. His sudden death from heart disease, at a distance from his home is a characteristically abrupt close of an energetic, explosive, tempestuous career in the pulpit, and on the rostrum, during which he often shocked some of his hearers, and sometimes provoked momentary resentment, but never failed to command attention, and on the whole did good.

The world needs, eccentric preachers as well as others, because there are some sinners whom the voice of pure reason and dignified expostulation will not reach. For some, the solemn notes of the cathedral organ, for others the Salvation Army cornet and drum amid the bustle of the downtown streets.

The Decline of Comic Opera. Musical America: Reginald De Koven is right in the assumption that there is a public eager for the lighter forms of opera, properly sung and properly presented. It has been a matter of regret with many music lovers that we have had so few really good comic operas during the past few years. With the possible exception of some of the better works of Victor Herbert, Julian Edwards and Mr. De Koven himself, the so-called comic opera stage has degenerated hopelessly of late.

The insatiable craving on the part of the public at large for "hit songs," for meaningless and ridiculous close-dancing, for interpolations of numbers that have absolutely no bearing nor connection with the argument of the presentation, has led many worthy composers to depart from higher ideals in order to produce "hit." The desire to satisfy the demand for fantastic stage pictures, elaborate electrical effects and impossible travesty has been attended by a proportionate decline in musical excellence.

A return to the standards established by "Robin Hood," "The Serenade" and similar operas that are now looked upon as a school of the past would be most welcome. Comic opera is a wholesome form of musical entertainment when it is built upon the proper lines, and as such is worthy of the best effort of our American composers, that they may win fame in this field is evidenced in the careers of such men as Strauss, Genes, Supp, Millock, Auber, Boildieu, Offenbach and Sullivan.

prison at Leavenworth, Kan., constructed an instrument which he used recently to saw through the top and bottom of a three-inch steel bar. Mark A. Shipley, who resides at 4036 Cook avenue, St. Louis, returned from Leavenworth and gave the story to the St. Louis Globe-Democrat, which says: "A photograph of the sawed bars, showing the opening made, was given to Mr. Shipley by the warden. Shipley was one of the men instrumental in sending the man to prison. That a common piece of yarn could be made to cut the 'strongest' steel bars, tested with acids and resisting steel saws, is a discovery that not only surprises the police and keepers of jails and penitentiaries, but scientists as well. It is the first case of the kind on record as far as can be learned, and the prisoner who used it in the Leavenworth penitentiary is the originator. The prisoner was confined in one of the isolation cells. A guard standing on a tier above noticed him working his hands back and forth around the bars and notified the guards on the lower floor. They investigated and found that the top had been sawed through. The bottom was not touched. The prisoner readily confessed and showed the warden how he had twisted together a piece of yarn and made it into a saw. He had made them compact by frequent wringing. Dust and sand picked up in the quarry were kneaded into the string. When finished it was almost as hard as a piece of emery stone. It required two days, he said, to saw through the bar with the string. Several new strings having to be made, as they wore out quickly. The warden doubted the statement at first. The prisoner offered to show him and made one of the instruments out of common twine. Small pieces of broom sticks were used as handles.

With this, the warden had the prisoner finish sawing through the bottom of the bar. When plans for the new penitentiary were made it was decided to use Bessemer steel for the window gratings, it being deemed harder and nearer sawproof than the iron which had been used. The bars at his window were the ones sawed. The opening was large enough for a man to have crawled through. The fact that Bessemer steel bars have been successfully sawed without using steel makes it more and more necessary that guards be constantly on the watchout," said Mr. Shipley yesterday. "Prisoners have made saws of tin cans and the like, but never before of common yarn."

FLAGMEN GUARDING GRADE CROSSINGS

Brodhead at Last Secures Protection From St. Paul Road—New Side-track to Be Built.

Brodhead, Oct. 15.—The efforts of the mayor and council to secure protection at the railroad crossings have at last been rewarded. Supt. E. D. Wright has made a personal inspection and as a result, flagmen are to take care of the crossings at the depot and at Graham's lumber yard, while a bell is to be placed at the crossing by the Road house. A long side-track will also be built in the spring west of the city. The Thomas street residents hope this will do away with the long, treacherous backing up on the Albany track. This certainly is a much needed improvement and if this system does not prove satisfactory another one will be tried.

CRISIS OF GIRLHOOD

A TIME OF PAIN AND PERIL

Miss Emma Cole Says that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has Saved Her Life and Made Her Well.

How many lives of beautiful young girls have been sacrificed just as they were ripening into womanhood. How many irregularities or displacements have been developed at this important period, resulting in years of suffering!

Miss Emma Cole of Tullahoma, Tenn., writes:

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:

I want to tell you that I am enjoying better health than I have for years, and I owe it to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

When fourteen years of age I suffered almost constant pain, and for two or three years I had soreness and pain in my side, headaches, and was dizzy and nervous, and doctors all failed to help me.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound was recommended, and after taking it my health began to improve rapidly, and I think it saved my life. I sincerely hope my experience will be a help to other girls who are passing from girlhood to womanhood, for I know your Compound will do as much for them.

If you know of any young girl who is sick and needs motherly advice ask her to write Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass., and she will receive free advice which will put her on the right road to a strong, healthy and happy womanhood.

Mrs. Pinkham is daughter-in-law of Lydia E. Pinkham and for twenty-five years has been advising sick women free of charge.

The Mutual Life Insurance Company

Let them read its history; analyze its statements; examine its investments; consult its agents. They will find a reason for its strength and stability and a reason for their confidence and patronage. The new management of the Mutual Life has been in control for nine months. Its report for the first six months will be mailed to anyone who requests it. It tells what has been accomplished, in conformity with the new Insurance Laws; shows the vast reductions, and indicates the unusual advantages yet to reach its policyholders. Its plain figures given in a plain way, will convince any fair-minded person that The Mutual Life to-day justifies the good opinion of Bishop, Chas. C. McCabe, of the Methodist Episcopal Church, who recently said:

"After long and careful consideration, I am thoroughly satisfied that the present administration of both companies (the New York Life and the Mutual Life) are now effecting great economies and reforms, and that these institutions, 'purged' as by fire, are now in a position to afford the protection of life insurance in better form, and on better terms, than any known in the past." It justifies also the good opinion of Mr. James C. Colgate and his associates, who, having policies to the amount of $5,000,000 in the Mutual Life, recently "resolved that their administrative of its affairs has been and is efficient, economical and bene-

JEFFERSON DAVIS' WIDOW IS NO MORE

Lay in State of Coma All Day Yesterday and Succumbed to Effects of Cold Last Night.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)
New York, Oct. 17.—After laying in a state of coma all day, Mrs. Jefferson Davis, widow of the Confederate president, died at the Hotel Majestic here Tuesday evening. Her only surviving daughter and other relatives were at her bedside when the end came. Her death was due to pneumonia resulting from a cold contracted at her summer home in the Adirondacks and it was thought up till Monday evening that she would survive the attack. Then her condition became serious and Rev. Fr. Seagle, rector of St. Stephen's Protestant Episcopal church, was summoned to give religious comfort.

Mrs. Jefferson Davis was eighty years old on May 7 last. It has probably passed from the minds of many persons that Mrs. Davis was of northern stock. Her grandfather was Richard Howell, who commanded the New Jersey troops in putting down the first rebellion against the American government. He was a planter and of the people, descended from Welsh parents, who settled in Delaware in 1723. His father raised and became governor of New Jersey, to which state his parents had removed when he was a lad of 15.

Governor Howell was a Federalist of the staunchest kind, and when Washington passed through Trenton on his way to New York to be inaugurated, Gov. Howell received him officially with a considerable display of loyalty to his personal and political cause. Gov. Howell led the New Jersey troops during the so-called "whiskey rebellion," and led them well.

Mrs. Davis was born in Natchez, Miss., the daughter of William Burr and Margaret Howell. She was educated at a boarding school in Philadelphia, and by private teachers at home. Her marriage to Jefferson Davis, then a resident of Warren county, Miss., took place Feb. 25, 1845.

Jefferson Davis was elected to congress in November of the same year, but resigned the following June to go to the Mexican war, from which he returned severely wounded. The couple spent the most of their time in Washington from 1847 to 1861, during which time Mr. Davis served two terms as United States senator and one as secretary of war. During the four years Mr. Davis was president of the confederacy Mrs. Davis lived in Richmond.

The anxious mistress for four long years of the chief home in a beleaguered capital, a fall of Richmond parted her from her husband, whom she was to meet again in her wanderings through the southern forests only to be parted from him after a few days, he to be sent to prison and she to shift for herself and her children as best she could, agreeably to the limitations set upon her every movement by the conquering troops.

During the first year of Mr. Davis' imprisonment his wife was not permitted to be with him, but was allowed to remain with him during the second year at Fortress Monroe. When this period of trouble was over the couple went to England, where they remained several years. Returning to this country they took up their residence at Memphis, where they continued to live until 1875, when they moved to Beacon Station, Mississippi, which place Mrs. Davis continued to visit afterward to call her home.

Mrs. Davis died as her husband's anniversary, when he wrote his "Decline and Fall of the Confederate Government." After her husband's death, which occurred in 1889, Mrs. Davis wrote numerous criticisms and articles for newspapers and magazines.

Mrs. Davis, for reasons of health, lived in the north most of the time after the death of her husband. Her winters were passed in New York and her summers in New England or in Western New York State, but she permitted no one to assume that her heart was not still in the southland, although many of her strongest personal friendships were with northern people. She was a woman of strong likes and dislikes, but was exceedingly discreet in her expression of opinion.

Of her six children but one survives. This is Margaret Howell Davis, now Mrs. L. A. Hayes, the wife of a banker of Colorado Springs, Colo. Jefferson Davis, Jr., who died several years ago, greatly resembled his father. His death was followed by that of Miss Winnie Davis.

A bushel basket would hardly hold the telegrams of condolence received by Mrs. Davis immediately after the death of Miss Winnie Davis, as the "Daughter of the Confederacy" had become known to the public. These came from Confederate statesmen, ripe in years, at whom but a handful are left; from old soldiers who followed the stars and bars on many a bloody field; from the sons and even grandsons of Confederate veterans; from surviving representatives of the old aristocratic element of southern society; from school children; and quite a number of these messages were sent by old-time colored folk, once in slavery, but having lively and pleasant memories of the kindly personal influence of Jefferson Davis and his wife.

The name of Jefferson Davis survives in his grandson, the son of Mrs. Hayes of Colorado Springs. In order that the name of her father might be perpetuated in her family, Mrs. Hayes secured legislative sanction to the change of her son's name from Jefferson Davis Hayes to Jefferson Davis. This was done with the consent of the son, and in accordance with the wish, generally expressed, by members of the Davis family and others who were greatly attached to the late leader of the Confederacy.

KILLED FRIEND FOR FICKLE SWEETHEART

Enraged German Slashed Companion in Endeavoring to Take Life of Girl Who Proved False.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)
Berlin, Oct. 17.—A sensational crime, reminding one of some gory "dime novel," has just been committed at Munich. A girl named Therese Niedermair had amorous relations with a man named George Dunz, but the lady proved fickle and arranged to meet surreptitiously another candidate for her favors. The trust, however, was observed by one Max Gundlunger, a bosom friend of Dunz's, who was not slow in informing the jittered lover of what he had seen. The latter, furious with jealousy, rushed off with the informant to the girl's house the same night and demanded admission, threatening to break open the door. The panic-stricken girl opened the door, but had the presence of mind to extinguish the light first, then slipped behind the door and darted through, while the maddened lover, who was armed with a long knife, rushed into the darkened room. Striking blindly about him, he plunged his weapon into the body of his friend Gundlunger, who fell mortally wounded. Dunz then fled, but was pursued and captured.

FIRE UNDERWRITERS ARE IN CONVENTION

Senator Beveridge Will Deliver Address on Relation of Congress to Insurance.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)
Indianapolis, Ind., Oct. 17.—Insurance men to the number of about 500 from all over the country attended the opening session of the convention of the National Association of Local Fire Underwriters here today. Mayor Bookwalter delivered the address of welcome and response was made by E. W. Beardsley of Hartford, Conn. President E. J. Tapping of Milwaukee, presided. The meetings will continue through Thursday and Friday, and the program is one of the best ever arranged for a convention of the association. Senator Beveridge is down for an address on "The Relation of Congress to Insurance," and David M. Parry is to discuss the attitude of the public toward fire insurance. Besides listening to these formal papers and addresses the convention will discuss many interesting phases of the fire underwriting business.

WORLD'S CHAMPION TO DEFEND TITLE

Willie Hoppe, the Phenomenon on the Billiard Table, Will Meet Jacob Schaefer Tonight.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)
New York, Oct. 17.—Before hundreds of students of the green table sport Willie Hoppe, the youthful wonder with the cue who wrested the world's title from Maurice Vignaux and Jacob Schaefer, the aged veteran, long known as "the wizard," will defend the world's championship at the eighteenth annual Garden concert hall tonight. The game will be at 500 points, and the winner will receive a gold trophy emblematic of the championship, in addition to a purse. For over a month each of the principals has been training and practicing for the big strain he will have to undergo tonight. Hoppe has been playing steadily against the old shortstop, Edward McLaughlin, and is tuned up to excellent form. He feels quite certain of holding the honors, but Schaefer is out for the title, and has been training faithfully at McGraw's academy since he returned from West Baden. On account of his youth, his victories over Vignaux and Slosson and his great exhibitions, Hoppe has been made a favorite in the betting, though the veteran Schaefer has ardent admirers who are disposed to take all the Hoppe money offered. Another match of scarcely less interest is slated for tomorrow night, when George Slosson and George Sutton will contest for the 182 world's championship emblem, now held by Slosson.

LION INVADES SLEEPING CAR

Grabs a Man and Jumps Out of the Window With Body in His Mouth.

Railroad building in Africa is fraught with the most remarkable dangers. At Klu several coolies had been carried off by an old lion, and one night Ryall, an English engineer, who had seen much service in India, decided to sit up in a railway carriage on the chance of getting a shot. With him were Mr. Huebner, the German consul, and an Italian, Parenti. The night was dark, with but little moon, and after midnight Ryall commented upon the brightness of the fireflies near the carriage and also remarked that he had seen a rat repeatedly cross and recross a spot where the steel rail glinted in the moonlight.

But the supposed fireflies were the luminous eyes of the lion they waited for, and the rat was the slow movement of his tail. If Ryall had recognized this his life would have been saved. Tired of their vigil toward the morning, the three watchers went to sleep. Huebner on the upper berth, the two others below. The carriage was the ordinary sleeping-carriage familiar to Indian travelers, with a lavatory beyond the coaches. An hour had passed, the party was asleep, when the lion jumped into the carriage and seized Ryall, while in a moment Parenti had slipped into the lavatory and closed the door.

The movements of the lion, or more probably, his weight thrown on one side, caused the door by which he had entered the car to close. Thus Huebner's experience was most terrible. The rifles were below, and on the upper berth he remained while the lion killed Mr. Ryall within three feet of him. After a few awful minutes the great beast jumped out through the window with Ryall's body in its mouth.

Andrew Carnegie opened the new engineering and natural philosophy departments of the Edinburgh university. Former Premier Balfour, chancellor of the university, conferred the degree of doctor of laws on Mr. Carnegie.

SPARKS FROM THE WIRES.

After Mr. Gamble, at the request of M. Marble, counsel for the commission, had promised to furnish a copy of the rule and of the legal opinion regarding it, he left the witness stand.

Samuel Finney, a broker, told of an alleged agreement between certain Board of Trade men to bid certain prices for grain in the country. He said there was no penalty for violation of this agreement, so far as he knew. Others in this alleged agreement, according to Finney's testimony, are Bartlett, Frazier & Carrington and the Rogers Grain company.

He said Wilson-Henderson, for the first firm, gave him the price to bid, and Harry Newell for the other.

Tells of Elevator Agreement.
James Pettit, president of the Peavey Grain company, was called.

Mr. Pettit's testimony developed the fact that up to 60 days ago there was in existence an agreement between six elevator companies whereby their profits on storage of grain were assured from by each agreeing to refrain from taking grain from the warehouse of the other for storage.

It also developed that this agreement was dropped when the new rate law went into effect.

Pettit insisted that up to that time the agreement was lawful. He was asked to produce a copy of the agreement, and said he would if possible.

Those who had been in the deal with him, he said, were: Armour Elevator company, Calumet Elevator company, Central Elevator company, South Chicago Elevator company, J. Rosenbaum Grain company.

Kills Two Boarders.

Vancouver, B. C., Oct. 17.—At Carma, near Greenwood, B. C., James A. Dale, a boarding house keeper, is alleged to have killed two men and to have wounded a third. Dale is said to have attempted to eject the men from his house when the fight started.

To Extend Texas Road.

Muskogee, I. T., Oct. 17.—Vice President W. P. Dewar, of the Missouri, Oklahoma & Gulf railroad, which has its road already built from Wagner, I. T., to Dustin, I. T., announced that work would begin at once on an extension to Denison, Tex.

Why Vinol Is Better Than Any Other Remedy to Restore

Health and Strength

Vinol

WE RETURN MONEY IF IT FAILS TO GIVE SATISFACTION

SMITH DRUG CO.

Because Vinol is a real Cod Liver Preparation and does not contain a single disagreeable or harmful ingredient and is not a secret formula.

Because Vinol contains all the medicinal elements—the soothing, healing, strengthening and flesh creative properties of Cod Liver Oil—but without oil or grease.

Because everything in Vinol, except the tonic iron and a fine old wine, is actually extracted from fresh cods' livers and their oil.

Because Vinol is deliciously palatable and agreeable under all conditions. Everybody likes it.

Because Vinol tones up the system, strengthens every organ, nerve, muscle and fibre of the whole body and thus overcomes weakness by thoroughly eradicating the cause of disease.

That's Why Vinol is altogether different and better than any other remedy for Coughs, Colds, Bronchitis, and all Throat, Lung and Wasting Diseases.

That's Why Vinol Restores Health and Strength to Delicate Children, Feeble Old People, Weak and Sickly Persons, Nursing Mothers, and Convalescents.

HARD OR SOFT COAL

coke or wood; whatever fuel you use costs money. You have to pay so much for it whether you get all the heat out of it or not. If a stove wastes the fuel and only a part of the heat is extracted your fuel bills are higher than they should be. It is, therefore, profitable for you to get a stove that will get all the heat out of the fuel and not waste it. The genuine ROUND OAK is the stove that will do it, even the smoke which it sends out of the chimney is clear, showing that the gases and soot have been burned and all the heat extracted. The comfort of a stove that is everything it ought to be, that gives heat, holds the fire—that lasts, always good and efficient, is worth almost any cost. The ROUND OAK is a source of comfort in thousands of homes, it will prove the same in yours. Give us the opportunity to explain to you the reasons why it excels all other stoves. There are imitations—be sure and see the name "ROUND OAK."

Pillsbury's BEST Cereal

Your Grocer has it now

Just as soon as the housekeepers of America know that Pillsbury's Best Cereal VITOS, the White Heart of the Wheat, can now be had at all grocers, that one 15c. package makes 12 lbs. of creamy white delicious food, its consumption may even overtax the production of the mammoth Pillsbury-Washburn Mills—the largest in the world.

Made by the man who makes "The Flour"

FOR BREAKFAST. Stir slowly one half cup into two and one half cups of boiling water, salt to taste and boil 15 minutes. If too thick add boiling water. Serve hot with cream and sugar. When cold it makes a delicious luncheon dish, fried and served with syrup. Numerous dainty dinner desserts can be prepared with fruit and jelly.
